Episode Notes

Notes for episode number 141 Int - Interviu Su Ingrida Interview
With Ingrida - Voicemail 206-202-4745

Hi there, I'm Raminta and I'm Jack and welcome back to Lithuanian Out Loud where we offer the world the Lithuanian language.

Prašom...

According to the Wikipedia page entitled, Russians in Lithuania, most of the present-day Russians in Lithuania are migrants from the Soviet era and their descendants.

In Lithuania, Russian emigration was resisted. In Latvia and Estonia, less was done to stop it. By 1989 Russians made up 30% of the population in Estonia, while in Latvia, ethnic Latvians made up just 52% of the population. In contrast, in the last Soviet census in 1989, only 9 percent of Lithuania's population were ethnic Russians.

Russians who reside in Lithuania live mainly in urban areas. In Vilnius they make up 13% of the population, and 20% in Klaipėda. Kaunas has just 4% ethnic Russians. The town of Visaginas was built for workers at the Ignalina nuclear power plant and therefore has an ethnic Russian majority of 55%.

Alright, here is the first in a series of conversations Raminta recorded at a barbecue party. In the background of these recordings you can hear music from the party, insects, frogs, dogs and passing cars. These conversations are relaxed, spontaneous and unscripted. First, you'll hear the conversation between Raminta and Ingrida and then we'll break it down using some examples. Then at the end we'll play the conversation again. Enjoy! Enjoy!
Viskas...Labas vakaras, Ingrida!

Labas vakaras, Raminta!

Pirmų pirmausia paklausiu klausimą ar sutinkate būti įrašyta ir ar informacija gali būti panaudota internete?

Prašau

Ačiū, tai va, Ingrida, kaip manai, kas gyvenime yra laimingesni – vyrai ar moterys?

Aš galvoju, kad laimingesnės vis tik moterys yra gyvenime.

Moterys? Kodėl taip manot?

Todėl, kad jos gali pasiekti daugiau negu vyrai kartais, jos yra išradingesnės, subtilesnės, jautresnės, įdomesnės daugumoje, aišku yra ir vyrų įdomių, na ir daug daugiau tų privalumų yra ištikrųjų, tik reikia būti moteriai protingai, protas nugali viską.

Šaunu, ištikrųjų šaunu

Raminta:

Viskas....Labas vakaras, Ingrida!

Raminta:

Ačiū, tai va, Ingrida, kaip manai, kas gyvenime yra laimingesni – vyrai ar moterys?
Thanks, so, Ingrida, what do you think, who in life is happier - men or women?

Ingrida:

Aš galvoju, kad laimingesnės vis tik moterys yra gyvenime.
I think that happier, nevertheless, women are in life.

Raminta:

Moterys? Kodėl taip manot?
Women? Why do you think so?

Ingrida:

Todėl, kad jos gali pasiekti daugiau negu vyrai kartais, jos yra išradingesnės, subtilesnės, jautresnės, įdomesnės daugumoje, aišku yra ir vyrų įdomių, na ir daug daugiau tų privalumų yra ištikrųjų, tik reikia būti moteriai protingai, protas nugali viską.

Because they can achieve more than men sometimes, they are more inventive, more subtle, more sensitive, more interesting in the majority, clearly there are interesting men, and there are many more qualities to tell the truth, only it's necessary for women to be clever, intelligence conquers all.

Raminta:

Šaunu, ištikrųjų šaunu

Hi there, I'm Raminta and I'm Jack and welcome back to Lithuanian Out Loud where we offer the world the Lithuanian language.

According to the free Wikipedia page Romuva; The Quendlinburg Chronicle mentions a missionary Bruno of Querfort, who was killed along with 18 men by Yotvingians because of entering The Holy Forest. This was the first time the name of Lithuania was mentioned in written sources. Lithuanians came to history as very conservative believers of an ancient European pre-Christian faith, they preserved this religion until the 14th and 15th centuries. They happened to be the last non-nomadic people in Europe practicing pristine Indo-European polytheism.

In the 13th century Pope Gregory IX declared crusades against the Baltic peoples. This led to the destruction of the Baltic faith. Grand Duke Mindaugas was Christianized with his family and warriors in 1251 to get recognition from Christian Europe. But, Mindaugas still worshipped pagan deities as the Hyperian Chronicle mentions. He sacrificed to the Supreme God Andajus or Dievas, Perkūnas, Teliavelis, the god of blacksmiths, and Žvorūna, goddess of forests and hunters.

Today we'll go over the Lithuanian verb galėti – to be able. Here are galėti and negalėti conjugated in the present tense.

to be able (can)	galėti
I can	aš galiu
you can	tu gali
he can	jis gali
she can	ji gali
we can	mes galime
you can	jūs galite
you all can	jūs galite
they can (mm/mf)	jie gali
they can (ff)	jos gali
to not be able (cannot)	negalėti
I cannot	aš negaliu
you cannot	tu negali
he cannot	jis negali

she cannot we cannot you cannot you all cannot they cannot (mm/mf)
they cannot (ff)

ji negali

Hi there, I'm Raminta and I'm Jack and welcome back to Lithuanian Out Loud where we offer the world the Lithuanian language.

According to the Wikipedia page entitled, Rimantas Antanas Stankevičius, on 9 September 1990, Lithuanian pilot Rimantas Antanas Stankevičius died while performing at an airshow in Treviso, Italy. He was flying an SU-27 high-performance jet and after performing a loop the aircraft was lower than it should have been. Rimantas could have ejected safely but the unpiloted aircraft might then have smashed into the crowds of people watching the show. Rimantas chose to stay with the aircraft to ensure it crashed clear of the spectators. Rimantas was not only a first-class test pilot but also the first Lithuanian astronaut who flew the Buran Space Shuttle prototype. He was born in Mariampolė, Lithuania and was buried in Kaunas, Lithuania. He was 46 years-old.

Hi there, I'm Raminta and I'm Jack and welcome back to Lithuanian Out Loud where we offer the world the Lithuanian language.

According to a Los Angeles Times article of September 2005, a Russian SU-27 flying from St. Petersburg to Kaliningrad went off course, flew over Lithuania, the pilot ejected and the plane crashed into an empty Lithuanian field. Everything about this story is bizarre. Russian authorities initially claimed the plane was unarmed but in fact it had air-to-air missiles and a canon. Why did the aircraft fly over 120 miles into Lithuania? Why did the pilot turn off his radar beacon? Why did he fly low to the ground under Lithuanian radar? Nothing about the incident makes sense. Soon after the crash Lithuanian Air Force Commander Colonel Jonas Marcinkus was fired from his post for some phone calls he made to Russian military officers. Some analysts have suggested the aircraft was testing Lithuanian defenses for a hypothetical Russian war with Poland and Lithuania.

Labą diena, norėčiau užsisakyti maisto išsinešimui

Ko pageidausite?

Ar jūs turite valgiaraštį?

Žinoma, štai – paimkite. Gal norėtumėte ko nors išgerti?

Ne, tiesiog palauksiu savo užsakymo

Gerai, kai būsité pasiruošus užsakyti maistą leiskite man žinoti

Gerai, ačiū

Ačiū jums, prašom prisėsti

Šaunuoliai! Great! You made it to the end of another episode! Nuostabu!

Flashcards More Animals

Hi there, this is Jack and welcome back to Lithuanian Out Loud. This is a flashcard episode. To use this episode you have to download the accompanying pdf file and open it. Then just follow along with the audio.

The pdf file has four pages. On the first two pages we give you the English and the Lithuanian text along with an image from the public domain clip art collection at WP Clipart.

The third and fourth pages of our pdf file have English only. So, if you print the pdf file onto heavy paper or card stock you can cut them out and create hand-held flashcards. You can study by yourself or with a friend. Here we go, enjoy!
